SMUTS SAYS ALLIES READY FOR OFFENSIVE

SOLOMONS SEEK VOTERS' O. K. ON MILL LEVY

City Council Named As Committee To Promote Passage Of Issue

LEVY WILL PROVIDE OPERATING REVENUE

Legislators Authorize Wilson To Scrap Two Metal Fountain Troughs

Members of city council were named as a committee of the whole to promote the passage of the city's one-mill operating levy at the Nov. 3 election when the solons held their regular, but brief, meeting Tuesday night.

President of Council C. F. Zimmerman appointed all of the councilmen as a committee to work in behalf of the levy after Councilman-at-Large Fred A. Shaffer pointed out that council would not meet again until election night.

The one-mill levy, to appear on the tax duplicate two years, is designed by council to provide funds needed to replenish a sinking general fund and to assure all non-elective municipal employees of a wage increase.

65 Per Cent Approval Needed

A 65 per cent affirmative vote will be required for passage of the levy which is anticipated to yield approximately $13,000 annually.

Lowered sales tax, gasoline tax and similar receipts which the municipalities share with the state have cut into Salem's general fund, the councilmen explained at the time the resolution was passed to place the levy before the voters in November.

Council last night recommended the contribution of two more city-owned metal items to the city's scrap drive when it authorized Service Director Frank Wilson to junk two drinking fountains, now used as flower pots on the pumping station lawn, which date back to horse-and-buggy days.

Together the metal troughs will weigh about 1,500 pounds, Wilson estimated.

Two weeks ago council agreed to the demolition of an old boiler at the waterworks pumping station. It will be dismantled within the next couple of weeks.

Reports on Fire Truck

The service director reported that this workers gathered another seven tons of scrap metal in the city yesterday, bringing to 38 tons the total collected since the city-wide canvass was launched last Wednesday.

The boiler, drinking fountains and other city-owned scrap metal will be kept separate from other collections and sold to the highest bidder after it has been advertised.

Safety Director Curtis Phillips made his official report to council last night on the "complete breakdown" of the 20-year-old American LaFrance fire truck which went to pieces while answering an alarm a week ago.

Phillips' suggestion that officials of the fire apparatus concern might be summoned to ascertain if repairs were possible, was referred to the safety and finance committees.

Legless R. A. F. Pilot

Legless, Sub-Lieut. Colon Hodgkinson of the British Royal Air Force is shown walking with his Spitfire fighter plane after making a flight at a training center somewhere in England. Hodgkinson is a close friend of Britain's famous Wing-Commander Bader, also legless, who is now a prisoner of war in Germany. Hodgkinson hopes to fly into battle with Bader's old squadron.

NEW BRITISH SHIPS AFLOAT

Battleships Howe And Anson Join Fleet, Seek Out Enemy's Tirpitz

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 21—Two powerful 35,000-ton battleships, the Anson and the Howe, each carrying ten 14-inch guns have moved into their stations in the British fleet and their commanders were reported spoiling for a fight with the great prize of the German fleet, the Battleship Tirpitz.

The British fleet has now reached its pre-war strength of 15 battleships and battle cruisers and at least four more battleships are under construction, including the Lion and the temeraire, rated at 40,000 tons.

The Anson and the Howe are the last of the five great battleships of the King George V class to be commissioned. The Prince of Wales was sunk last December during a Japanese air attack off Malaya. The King George V and Duke of York have been with the fleet for some time.

One of the Anson's first tasks was to help guard a Russia-bound convoy in the Arctic and her guns already have been in action against German aircraft, it was announced.

Capt. H. R. G. Kinnahan is in command of the Anson and Capt. G. H. L. Woodhouse commands the Howe. They were captains in the West Indies before the war and Woodhouse was commander of the Cruiser Ajax in the battle of the River Plate in which the German pocket battleship, Graf Spee fled to Montevideo harbor and was scuttled.

The new battleships "carry four aircraft each and their design incorporates enhanced defense against air attacks," an admiralty announcement said today.

Britain has lost five capital ships by enemy action so far in the war—the Royal Oak, Hood, Barham, Repulse and the Prince of Wales.

MULLINS CORP. WAGE BOOST IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—A wage agreement providing an increase of 5 1/2 cents an hour to employees of the Mullins Manufacturing Corporation (Youngstown Pressed Steel division) at Warren, O., was approved by the war labor board yesterday.

The increase, retroactive to Feb. 15, was negotiated with the CIO United Steelworkers of America.

Burns Prove Fatal

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21—The clothing of Mrs. Winifred McGinley, 75, caught fire from a stove, but she put on another dress before telephoning for help. Last night she died of burns.

SCRAP DRIVE NETS 71 TONS UP TO TODAY

Figures Are Compiled By Chairman A. V. Smith, Director Wilson

COLLECTIONS HERE FAR FROM COMPLETE

Be Patient, Residents Are Asked; Proceeds Go For Civilian Defense

Salem's scrap collection campaign has produced a total of 71 tons of scrap metals to date, figures compiled today by Service Director Frank Wilson and Scrap Chairman A. V. Smith revealed.

City trucks had collected and hauled to junk yards a total of 87,340 pounds, or 43.67 tons up to Tuesday night. Special collections being made by Smith and his committee up to Monday morning totaled 54,695 pounds, or 27.35 tons.

The collection is far from complete, in fact Wilson has a list of more than 40 homes and places of business which his trucks have been unable to reach. This work is being pushed as rapidly as possible each day, but most of the remaining calls are for larger pieces of scrap which require longer to get out of the premises.

Collections Continuing

Because less speed can be made in handling the larger pieces of scrap, those who have reported that they have scrap available are urged to be patient. They will be reached as soon as possible and the collections will continue until all of the scrap has been rounded up and delivered to the junk piles to be converted into steel for war purposes.

Scrap collected by the city trucks has been donated for the war effort and the money the special committee in this newspaper scrap campaign collects for it from the junk dealers will be turned over to the Civilian Defense council. This fund will be used for war purposes only.

Only a small part of the 27 tons already collected by Smith's committee has been donated. More than 25 tons of this has been purchased by junk dealers direct from owners.

Industrial scrap collected during the drive, and up to the compiling of reports Monday morning, had totaled 1,693,145 pounds. This included 20,185 pounds of brass and 3,190 pounds of copper and copper alloy.

WPB REVOKES AID ON CONSTRUCTION

U. S. Must Face Problem Of Slash In Luxury Production Soon

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board announced today he would limit government construction to projects "directly essential" to the war effort.

Nelson notified the heads of eight governmental agencies that he had given instructions to revoke priority assistance to a large part of non-military construction for the federal government, and said a review now was underway of all military projects, of the army, navy, and maritime commission, with the same end in view.

"As things now stand," Nelson said, "facilities and construction including many projects not related to the war effort, programs for 1943, with the carry-over of uncompleted 1942 projects will absorb between one-fifth and one-fourth of the total war effort."

He added that the agreement demanded for these projects for materials, labor, transportation, manpower, and technical and engineering services, "is so great as to not only jeopardize the various military and essential civilian programs in general, but to force the most essential war projects dangerously behind schedule."

Apologues of the same subject, President Roosevelt declared at his press conference yesterday that he had got to face the question of whether we are going to allow production of luxury goods to continue. People now have about $14,000,000,000 in cash in their pockets as compared with about $9,000,000,000 a year ago, he said, and since they will buy luxuries with that extra money the stores will keep demanding them.

Fur Fire Checked

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21—Firemen nearly smothered in furs and smoke early today as they sought the seat of a stubborn, smoldering blaze in the J. J. Fox Fur Co.'s storage vault in a 12-story building a block from Cleveland's business district.

Fire fighters were forced to put on gas masks.

Immediate Coffee Rationing Demanded By Ohio Grocers

Ohio grocers are demanding immediate rationing of coffee to relieve what they describe as a "chaotic situation that is daily becoming worse."

The demand was made of the War Production board in a resolution adopted at closing sessions of the 43rd annual convention of the Ohio Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association at Akron yesterday.

The association asserted that confusion and inequitable distribution of coffee to consumers resulted from a cut in deliveries to 65 per cent of 1941 totals.

The resolution added that the reduced quota had "burdened all branches of the retail food industry with a responsibility they can not satisfactorily discharge."

Meanwhile, Charles A. Otis, head of a committee appointed by Cleveland's mayor to study the situation there, called on coffee drinkers to consume only one or two cups a day and indicated a belief that national rationing would solve that city's shortage problem.

Recent state-wide reports have told of "coffee lines" forming at stores to obtain as little as one-fourth pound per person, with some customers being unable to purchase any coffee at all.

The grocers association elected D. D. Dillman of Middletown as president.

G. O. P. Rally Here Scheduled Oct. 27

The only county-wide Republican rally planned for the present campaign to prepare for the Nov. 3 election will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, in the Memorial building.

Earl L. Lewis of St. Clairsville, former congressman and candidate for congress at the coming election, will be the speaker. Other district and county candidates will be present.

This rally is being arranged by the Salem Republican club. President Al Pich said today the club expects several hundred from Salem and other parts of the county to attend.

RATIONING BOARD OFFICE IS MOVED

The Salem War Price and Rationing board has moved its office from the room adjacent to the business bureau office to the room on the second floor of the Nyktas building, E. State st.

U. S. PLANES BLAST JAPS IN PACIFIC

Allied Domination Of Skies Appears To Be Growing Mightier

ATTACK AWAITED AT GUADALCANAL

Bombers Slug Jap Invasion Bases From Aleutians To Solomons

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Allied domination of the skies in the vast Pacific battle front appeared growing mightier today as American bombers slugged Japanese invasion bases from the Aleutians to the Solomons.

The fury of the Allied bombing of enemy troops and supply concentrations in the Solomons seemed thus far to have stalled, at least temporarily, the full force of a Japanese thrust to retake the American-held Guadalcanal airbase and win control of the southwest Pacific.

While a large force of Japanese warships and auxiliary vessels in the Solomons and reinforced enemy troops on northwestern Guadalcanal still held an expected attack in leash, United States bombers dropped explosives on the embattled island's invaders on Oct. 18 and 19, and started fires at the Japanese Rekata bay base on Santa Isabel island, 150 miles to the northwest.

MacArthur Reports Success

At that same time, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian command reported last night, Allied bombers were believed to have inflicted extensive damage on the Japanese airbase and shipping at Buin, Bougainville island, about 315 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

All Allied planes, meeting no attempts at interception, returned safely from the Buin night raid.

Possibility that the southwestern Pacific skies soon may become a hornet's nest of Allied planes was seen yesterday in an assertion by Secretary of the Navy Knox that the number of navy land-based planes was "steadily increasing."

In the North Pacific, the Navy announced that on Oct. 18 the Army's heavy four-engine Liberator bombers smashed again at the island of Kiska, the last of three Aleutian bases once held by the Japanese.

Twelve tons of bombs were dropped on enemy shore installations and on a beached ship in the harbor. The explosives set fires in the camp area.

Meantime, MacArthur's Australian troops further reduced the Japanese threat to the Allied Port Moresby base in New Guinea by pushing the enemy back three miles in the Owen Stanley mountains.

McSWEENEY TAKES FOE'S CHALLENGE

Says He'll Take Look At Record Of Republican Patriotism

(By Associated Press)

MARION, Oct. 21—John McSweeney, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, promised today to reply to what he said was a charge by his Republican opponent, Gov. John W. Bricker, that McSweeney was unpatriotic.

Addressing a party rally here last night, McSweeney said he would "look at the record of patriotism of the GOP leadership in Ohio" in a radio broadcast from Cleveland tonight.

The former state war director said Bricker in a radio speech last Monday accounted for only 47 millions in explaining record state expenditures.

"The record shows that Mr. Bricker spent $125,000,000 more in his three years than was ever before spent in three years of Ohio government," McSweeney retorted. "What happened to that $79,000,000 my opponent doesn't talk about," he asked.

Speaking at a Republican rally in Coshocton, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft called for voters at the Nov. 3 election to send independent-thinking congressmen to Washington as a means of safeguarding rights of individuals and states. He cautioned that "bureaucrats" would be loathe to release their war-time powers when peace returns.

Taft, Cincinnati Republican, spoke in behalf of J. Harry McGrover, 17th district congressman. Taft is scheduled to speak in Mount Vernon today.

BLACKOUT DUE FOR ALL OHIO

Test Will Come Within Several Months, Defense Head Reports

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 21—Ohio will undergo a state-wide test blackout within three or four months, State Defense Director Ralph H. Stone announced today.

Plans for the blackout were disclosed in a report by Stone that more than 600,000 persons now are participating in the Ohio civilian and industrial protection program.

Of that total, 282,356 men and women have completed emergency training to cope with air raids and sabotage and to conduct service corps activities, a 100 per cent increase in three months.

Stone said public warning systems had been established throughout the state and that a majority of towns had full-manned control centers with auxiliary personnel on 24-hour call.

Blackouts have been conducted in numerous cities in preparation for the state-wide test, he added.

"Ohio is prepared to face any emergency and is organized to give all possible protection to civilians and war industry in the event of enemy action from the air," Stone said.

He cited a report from the Federal Office of Civilian Defense commending Ohio for being "well ahead of all other states in the middle west" in its protection program.

NECESSARY FARMER DEFINITION SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Selective Service system and the Agriculture department are endeavoring to define just what is a necessary farmer and therefore one eligible for draft deferment.

This was stated by Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, in replying to a request by Senator Norris (Ind.) that local draft boards be instructed to defer "necessary men" on the farm.

Service Trades Meeting To Attract Businessmen

Salem business men engaged in service trades have been invited to attend a meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Y. M. C. A. building in Youngstown, arranged by the Office of Price Administration.

Service price control will be the subject of the meeting, with a short talk on the basis of requirements of maximum price regulation No. 165 and how it affects the service trades.

An open forum will follow, in charge of Phil S. Eckert, retail price specialist, who will be accompanied by several members of his organization.

Salem Librarians Plan Convention Attendance

Miss Alice Gladden, Salem public librarian, Mrs. Blanche Lease, reference librarian, will attend the Ohio Library association convention in Columbus, Oct. 22, 23 and 24.

Highlight of the convention is the Friday evening banquet at which Marquis W. Childs, Washington correspondent, will address the convention visitors on the subject, "Washington Cavalcade." Friday morning Miss Gladden will talk on "Cataloguing."

PARLIAMENT HEARS FIRST RADIO TALK

Prime Minister Of Union Of South Africa Says Time Has Arrived

BROADCAST MESSAGE IS UNPRECEDENTED

Smuts Reports Nazi Army "Bleeding To Death" In Russia

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 21—In an unprecedented broadcast address, breaking parliament's tradition ban of the radio from its chambers, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, told a joint meeting of the houses of commons and lords today that the Allies have arrived at "the offensive phase of the war."

Never before in the 647-year history of the mother of parliaments had microphones been installed to give Britain and the world direct hearing of its proceedings.

This precedent-shattering event was a British tribute to the 72-year-old field marshal, the last surviving member of the British empire war cabinet of the first World War active in the high councils of the second World War.

Nazi Army Bleeding

Smuts' appearance before a radio in the commons chamber was a gesture to him as high as that given Prime Minister Churchill by the Congress of the United States when he broadcast an address to it in joint session during his visit to the United States.

The German army is "bleeding to death" in Russia and "the stage is set for the last, the offensive phase of the war for the United Nations," Smuts declared.

He said the "appalling blood-letting which is necessary for Hitler's ultimate defeat is being administered by the Russians."

Although he said "they alone can do it," he urged "whatever help we can give to Russia.... in the fullest measure and with the utmost speed."

The setting, a history-making session of the house of commons and the house of lords, was evidence of Britain's desire to give the most powerful assurance to Russia and to all the people of the United Nations that no time is being lost in preparing a "second front."

Smuts has been in London for nearly two weeks, holding extensive conferences with United Nations leaders.

German field headquarters meanwhile acknowledged that the Russians were launching powerful diversion attacks against the Nazi guard north flank, above Stalingrad, but asserted they had been repulsed in heavy fighting.

For the second successive day the Germans stressed bad weather conditions along the battle line, declaring that rains were hampering operations both in the Stalingrad zone and in the Caucasus.

BERLIN RESERVOIR BIDS ARE OPENED

Two Strategic Bridges, On Routes 14 And 224, Will Be Constructed

The state highway department late Tuesday received bids for construction of two strategic bridges in the Berlin reservoir water conservation area in Mahoning and Portage counties.

The Hinman Bros. Construction Co. of Pittsburgh submitted the apparent low bid of $641,413.30 to construct a concrete beam bridge over the Mahoning river on U. S. Route 224, East of Deerfield. The structure will be four spans, 20 feet in length and four spans, 20 feet in length and two 120 feet, with a 56-foot roadway.

The completion date is Dec. 31, 1943.

D. D. Mullett of Pittsburgh entered the only bid to erect another bridge over the Mahoning on State Route 14, south of Deerfield.

The bid was for $318,500.55, against the state estimate of $328,290. Plans call for five spans, three of 84 feet and two of 59 feet, with a 56-foot roadway. The completion date is Oct. 31, 1943.

The highway department also announced that no bids had been received on the proposed improvement of State Route 644 in Summitville, Columbiana county.

JACKPOT FOR JOBBOLDERS

If these were ordinary times, the world's largest office building, just being completed in Washington, would get the attention it deserves.

Here is the jackpot for jobholders in the capital, a sprawling monument to the triumph of bureaucracy in the United States. Statistics on the monstrosity, known as the "Pentagon," deal with incredible distances and spaces, but they merely reflect the incredible numbers of paper clippers and rubber stampers now populating Washington. The "Pentagon" alone will house no less than 40,000 of the millions of federal employees supposedly needed to look after the welfare of voters.

The thought of that vast pile of stone, brick, steel and plaster crawling with clerks, stenographers, messengers and third assistant theses and theses is stirring. Perhaps in the years to come it may become one of the favored objectives of tourists wanting to see the Washington native in his habitat. Perhaps by charging the tourists a dollar for a tour, the thing might even be made to pay for some minor detail of its operating cost, such as the paper drinking cups.

REALISM IN THE WAR LABOR BOARD

The war labor board's decision in the Ford Motor Co. case, in which a demand for a wage increase was denied, may supplant the precedent the board established in the "little steel" case. The Ford decision follows the line of reasoning laid down in the previous case, but instead of encouraging limited demands for higher pay rates goes all the way and concludes that public policy calls for stopping the inflationary rise somewhere, because it can't be continued forever.

The board also takes into account the problem of precedents, something it has failed to do in previous decisions. Its rulings on wages in one part of the automobile industry automatically are applied to the whole industry; i. e. it cannot grant an increase to Ford workers without inviting General Motors and Chrysler workers to seek the same thing.

There is no point of satiety in wages. The war labor board seems to have concluded that, since this is demonstrably true, the only way to curb rising costs resulting from constantly higher wages is to decide that wages should remain where they are. This is the first open acknowledgment in Washington that the government has quit trying to reconcile economic stabilization and appeasement for every union that puts in a bid for a higher wage rate.

ORDERLY FERMENT

OWI's report on this country's war planes can't ever mention the most important thing about them, except to say that the aircraft industry is in an "orderly ferment."

It is important that bombers now in operation are being found satisfactory; that fighter planes are at a disadvantage in high-altitude fighting; and that other types are holding their own. But it is more important that better fighter planes are being developed on drawing boards. That is the most important thing in aviation today.

The United States, coming into the war when the nature of aerial combat had been established by experience, immediately went into production with the models it had prepared in advance. Its best bombers today were designed upward of a decade ago. Likewise, its fighter planes now in production left the drawing boards years ago.

The planes now on the drawing boards will be in the air next year and the year after. In the race to develop winning combinations, the United States has taken the lead because, paradoxically, it started late. Germany, Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Russia had to "freeze" designs years ago in order to get planes into volume production. The United States, just now beginning to produce in volume, will reach its peak one and perhaps two years from now—with the planes that ultimately will win the war.

GUADALCANAL WILL BE THE TEST

In the anxiety of waiting for news that doesn't come, something about the Solomon Islands that United States fighting men must have foreseen clearly is increasingly evident to all Americans.

They are likely to be the scene of the turning point in the war between the United States. What happens there may be as climatic as Germany's inability to defeat the British in 1940 and as Russia's counter-attack last winter—events that changed the whole course of events.

If Japan is licked in the Solomons, the advantage it has held over the United States since the war began will be gone. If Japan wins, the beginning of the counter-offensive that ultimately will be its downfall will be postponed a little longer.

Weakened resistance to disease follows swift in the wake of mass air attack. Germany appears to be suffering acutely as a result of the mass call-up of doctors.—Lancet, British medical journal.

I have learned a lot in my years and can handle myself as well as any one 20 years younger. And I can swing a mean, mean hammer.—Womans letter asking shipyard job.

Something else to ponder is where to send Hitler for trial, after the World war is over, if he asks for a change of venue.

One of the four freedoms is freedom from fear. Does Washington mean fear of the voters or of the dictators?—Houghton Line.

ADOLESCENT TROUBLES

Doctor Discusses Medical Treatment

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE ALWAYS and continuously felt sorry for adolescents. The middle aged may moon about the glorious carefree period of youth, but a good deal of the time it is far from that. It is often a dreadful period of self-consciousness, frustration and adjustments that are difficult, sometimes impossible.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Only lately the medical profession has focused its attention on the adolescent and tried to solve his problems. I am interested in home reports from Asheville, North Carolina, by two psychiatrists who think the general practitioner can and should be the one to handle these difficulties.

Bad Adjustments

Most adolescents are able in the course of time to make their own adjustments and when they eventually arrive at the age of, let us say, 20, they have found themselves. But there remain a large number who make bad adjustments.

They seldom turn into out and out psychiatric cases, but they are on the borderline and are likely to take one of three behavior paths: the paranoid who believes others pick on him, resents correction and is always dissatisfied; the shy, seclusive person who retires into day-dreaming and fantasy formation; and the defiant, anti-social, offensive youth, the leader of rebellious groups. All of these moods occur mildly in all adolescents and do little harm, but occasionally they become fixed and are more or less serious.

The causes, aside from the inherent cause of being an adolescent, are the over-solicitous mother who prevents the child from growing up and hence makes him unable to hold his own in competition; the stern father who sets standards too high for the child to reach; physical defects, magnified by over-zealous parents and others, which are really trivial (a common one is acne or pimples); and relative dullness in a child who is made to compete with children of higher intelligence.

Medical Problems

Now many of these basically involve medical problems and it is an interesting suggestion that these young people should be encouraged to consult a family doctor or general practitioner. Plainly, the parents are the worst people to guide the adolescent; they have often made him what he is.

The method the doctor uses is explanation, reassurance and desensitization. The adolescent must be permitted to unburden himself completely, encouraged by tactful questioning, and in the absence of any disciplinary or condemnatory atmosphere. The doctor is in a special position to rectify or explain the minor, embarrassing physical disabilities that may be harassing the patient and is in a much better position than the parents to explain and discuss the sex problems and questions that particularly beset this period of life.

Change May Be Needed

He may have to try to alter the family situation, to change certain phases of the curriculum in school, to direct athletic activities.

Hopefully it is that the family doctor who is doctor of the mind as well as the body should be called in. It is a great advance over the treatment these youngsters have been getting in the past.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Student:—Does St. Vitus dance have any effect on the memory? If so, does it have this effect after the patient has recovered?

Answer: St. Vitus dance leaves no permanent trace on any of the higher mental functions. Like all infectious diseases, mental processes may be obtunded during the acute period.

U. S. NAVY PLANE HITS GERMAN SUB

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The United States Navy's air force operating from Iceland has made its first definite claim of a U-boat kill, reporting the accurate bombing of a submarine by a Catalina flying boat.

A few hours after the bombing, the report said, the U-boat's crew of 52 abandoned their sinking submarine and went aboard an Icelandic fishing boat. An Allied destroyer later captured them.

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

IT TAKES something extra...a plus...to make a reputation that everybody respects. Coca-Cola got its reputation for quality, because it has always been made the quality way out of quality ingredients.

Coca-Cola is an original creation with a very special something to offer, found in no other drink...a finished art in its making...a blend of wholesome flavors that creates for Coca-Cola a taste all its own. That's why Coca-Cola has the taste that charms...and never cloy.

There are many things for thirst but only one stands out for refreshment...ice-cold Coca-Cola. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

SYNOPSIS

Chloe Cameron had come to the Bureau of Entertainment search of work as an entertainer. Instead, she became secretary at the Bureau under a Miss Jepson. Chloe hopes that some day she would have an opportunity to substitute for some artist and sing her cowboy and Indian songs. One Saturday forenoon, Chloe, alone in the office, is revising her rejected book, "Songs of the Trail," when Ramon Sturgis, a handsome lawyer, comes to arrange some special entertainment for a society party. When he turns down all the usual possibilities, she offers her own specialties without mentioning herself. He leaves, saying that what she offered wouldn't be suitable for this particular occasion but he may be able to use the "Jack Rabbit" (one of her own numbers) after it is Chloe's birthday and, on the way home, she stops at a bakery for a cake. Her thoughts go back to last year's celebration in her little home town of Wadsworth, Ohio. After her mother's death, there was no staying on in her old home. She might have married Nate Barlow, the town's banker, but Chloe was ambitious and wanted a career. Returning to her one-room apartment in Greenwich Village, Chloe notices that Hugh Richards—the dark, quiet, young man, who lived next door—has moved. Many a time, when she first came there and was lonely, she wished she were better acquainted with him and now he was gone.

CHAPTER FIVE

Chloe put on a Dutch apron and set the rice to cook, humming to herself. Nice to have a room like this, a nice like this, with the glow of the fire in it, and the warm red lamp light. It hadn't cost much to furnish. The couch that looked like a nasturtium bed, with its cover of green monk's cloth and its red and orange pillows, was no more than a low, springy cot; and the comfortable chairs—products of basement auctions—were worn and faded under their cheerful slipcovers.

The old desk had come from an auction, too, and the small drop-leaf table, the chest of drawers, and the gold-framed mirror, and the lamp which shed a bloom over everything, over the buffalo robe near the hearth and the bits of Indian pottery, over the books in the built-in bookshelves and the copper sticks on either side and the banjo clock, and the moose antlers above the door.

A beautiful niche. A grand niche. She could draw its glowing walls around her and laugh back at New York. New York would have nothing of her, but she would take all of New York, teeming and rich and wonderful. As long as it gave her would take.... Shows—little balcony seats, perched high above the magic and the dream. Lectures—free, so many of them. Libraries, in whose vast, impersonal quiet you could sit and read....

Wadsworth weren't so bad, either, now that you weren't so tired of walking. The odd places you came to, down in your own neighborhood or over in the East Side. Hidden little streets, each with its own jargon. Shops where you could buy Syrian pastries, or Pont l'Evêque cheese, or smoked goose legs from Hungary, or plum duff, or red-pepper jam.... The very push-carts hinted of adventure.

Magic sidewalks of New York!

And always there was the chance that just around the corner was a publisher, wanting her book. When her book was published, then would come her chance to sing its songs. It was because she was nobody that they didn't care to hear her sing. Once her book was published, she would be Somebody. Of course, she wasn't turning down any chance to read and sing beforehand. But that was how she had figured it out.

Meantime, New York, I'm one of your seven million citizens. I'm having fun, and you've given me a job.

I don't have to turn around and go back to Wadsworth in defeat.

The chicken was frying, and Chloe made the salad, crushing the ripe avocado in a wooden bowl, mixing it with the tomato and chopped celery. A dash of lemon some little red peppers. A Mexican salad.

Funny how I like my life, thought Chloe. An open fire is all I need, rain on the roof—and a book to read!

I must write that down, she decided.

And she wiped her hands on the Dutch apron and looked around for a pencil. There was none in sight, and she picked up her purse from the couch and foraged inside.

No pencil there, either, but she discovered the pen that belonged to Mr. Ramon Sturgis.

I must telephone him, she thought. She found his card, and sitting down at the desk dialed the number he had written. She heard the operator ringing, but there was no answer. It was his office number he had given her.

But this isn't business, considered Chloe, and looked for his name in the telephone book. It was not there. A private number, she surmised. No use to request it of Information.

However, she found the Strathmore in the book and dialed again. It was away over in Beekman Place.

"May I speak with Mr. Sturgis?" she inquired of the cool male voice that answered.

"Mr. Sturgis had just gone out," the voice replied.

"Then may I speak with Mrs. Sturgis?" asked Chloe.

The operator's voice seemed to take a moment to get its breath.

"These are bachelor apartments," it replied, as if that was something all the world knew.

"Oh," said Chloe. "How nice! I mean, I'm so sorry."

"I'll connect you with Mr. Sturgis' apartment," the voice dismissed her.

"Elo!" It sounded like Chinese Gus. Thin, sweet, smiling. "Miss Sturgis. His house."

"Mr. Sturgis is not in?"

"No, please. Miss Sturgis is out. Be back soon."

Chloe left her number, felt that it was being written down carefully, laboriously. "Tell him to call me when he comes in. It's about his pen."

"Yes, Missy. Please. Thank you." Well, now, thought Chloe, where was I?

"An open fire...." She was writing with the pen.

An open fire is all I need. Rain on the roof, and a book to read.

The pen wrote easily. But she scratched out "Rain on the roof" and wrote "A cat on the hearth." She didn't like that, either, and the pen scratched it out. She rewrote the words:

An open fire is all I need, Rain on the roof, and a book to read.

And if on the mat Be a drowsing cat. That will be wealth indeed.

Sounds like an old maid, thought Chloe. So I'm bound in that direction.

Rent Control Regulations Halt Overnight Evictions

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Regulations to halt overnight evictions of tenants and sales of houses to evade rent control were issued today by the Office of Price Administration.

These two requirements must be met before a purchaser can obtain the right to occupy the property:

1. Payment of one-third of the purchase price must be made (not including borrowed funds) before a certificate authorizing eviction will be issued by an area rent director.
2. Three months must pass after the issuance of the certificate before the present tenant can be forced to vacate.

Cites Evasive Sales

Henderson said the regulations not only placed an effective check on evictions by requiring the purchaser to wait three months, but would also go a long way towards stopping evasive sales of houses.

"Some landlords in certain parts of the country are engaged in outright evasive sales," Henderson asserted. "They even go to the extent of advertising their basic purpose as an evasion of the maximum rent regulation. In such sales, neither tenant nor landlord have any intent of actually transferring the deed to the property, and no in-migrant defense worker who enters into such a sale ever imagines he will receive title."

Jeanette MacDonald and Robert Young in a romantic mood, from "Cairo," M-G-M's story about the Hottest Spot on Earth!

Betty Grable, John Payne and Victor Mature are starred in the new musical, "Footlight Serenade," coming to the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday, a story hailed as the perfect tonic for the times that spell entertainment all the way through. Payne and Mature play the part of prizefighters who slug it out for the favor of Betty Grable. Jane Wyman, Cobina Wright, Jr., Phil Silvers and James Gleason are also included in the cast.

Showing at the State tonight only is "Cairo" with Jeanette MacDonald and Robert Young. Miss MacDonald deserts the hop skirts and eroline and goes completely modern in the adventure musical which has Egypt for the background of the spy story.

Concluding at the Grand tonight is a double feature, "Saboteur Squad" and "Youth on Parade," the collegiate film-ical where the professo. is trying to divert his jitterbugging students into guinea pigs for his notions on student psychology and ends up by being the one converted to a jitterbug.

Featured in the leading role of "Lucky Legs" is Jinx Falkenburg, showing along with the musical comedy at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday is "Thundering Hoofs" with Tim Holt.

Reshuffling Of Top War Agencies Congress Proposal

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A complete reshuffling of top war agencies under a new super control board was recommended today in a congressional report which said:

Those officials who have charge of the war production program including the mobilization of manpower have not yet grasped the meaning of modern war."

The report, bristling with criticism of the present setup, was issued by the special House committee on national defense migration.

It urged subordination of the War Production board, the Selective Service administration, the War Manpower commission and the Office of Price Administration to a new super agency to be known as the Office of War Mobilization.

Asserting "our materials distribution system is breaking down and that 'hoarding' of raw materials has become a nationwide phenomenon," the committee declared:

"This war can be lost in Washington.... despite numerous regulations, ten months after Pearl Harbor, business-as-usual considerations still permeate the Washington wartime agencies."

The proposed new agency, which the committee said should be created by legislative action, would be headed by a chairman and primarily would be a policy-determining group.

Under it would be an Office of War Supply, exercising functions now vested in WPB and the procurement divisions of the Army, the Navy and the Maritime commission; an office of War Manpower, taking over most of the duties of the existing War Manpower commission and the Selective Service administration, and an Office of Economic Stabilization, an operating agency in which the present CPA would be the chief branch.

The committee said it believed the public was prepared to follow "clear and simple" directions but was confused because of "conflicting orders and demands emanating from Washington agencies."

"The committee asserted 'many of the shortcomings of the war effort to date are traceable to the attempt to run the war from Washington; accused the War Manpower commission of seeking service legislation to "underwrite the authority it has failed to exercise," asserting the Selective Service administration is obviously "unfit" to effect a balanced apportionment of manpower resources between military service and war production, and said the War Production board had "actively promoted" what it called "the present dispersal of responsibility for production."

FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR SAVINGS BONDS AND STAMPS

Dear Mom :

Thursday P. M.

You'll never know what a thrill it was to get that swell box from home today! As we stood around wisecracking at barracks mail call, the fellows were yelling guesses as to which letter was mine from Mary, like they sometimes do. Wham! The Sergeant shoved a package at me — I could tell from the wrappings that it was like the other one, the one that you sent last month.

I pushed through the mob of men in our outfit and my buddies were close on my heels. They remembered too! No one was disappointed. I passed the candy and gum and fruit and the cake around . . . but as everyone was cramming their stomachs with an additional "mess" around my bunk, I hurriedly put away the cigarettes, shaving cream, tooth powder—you remembered my favorite brands—and the stationery with the Air Corps emblem. I just can't imagine a soldier's box that could be more satisfactory!

I read your letter, sitting on my foot locker while the fellas were stuffing and talking and saying what good taste you have. When I came to the last paragraph, where you said you had bought me another Bond, I was proud on another count . . . that my folks are doing their part by buying War Bonds all the time, too! More and better folks like you — that's the kind of slogan this man's army needs.

Thank Dad, too, 'cause I know that he has had his hand in it all. . . I can hear the two of you discussing what to get at dinner and Tommy and Sue butting in with their sage advice. Make it a kiss all around from me. Thanks for everything from the whole barracks!

Love,

Bob

Topnotch Line Play Credited With Part Of Bucks' Success

FRONT WALL MAKES HOLES, BACK JUST CARRIES FOOTBALL

Brown Praises Csuri, Dean, Houston For Tip-Top Play This Year

By JOHN H. COLBURN
(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 21 — Tip-top line play—often unnoticed as spectators watch a speedy ball handler—is credited by Ohio State coaches with a great part of the Bucks' football success this season.

Rangy, heavy opposition linemen virtually have been pushed around the field by Ohio's alert, fast-charging forward wall.

"And last half a step you get on your opponent marks the difference between a play's success and failure," said Coach Paul Brown, whose team was rated the No. 1 college squad of the nation for the second straight week by sports writers.

"We've got some good ball carriers, but they wouldn't look half so good if our guards, tackles, ends and center didn't get some of the opposing linemen out of the way. And they've got to be sound defensive players to hold the other team in check."

Csuri Outstanding

Charles Csuri, the 195-pound tackle from Cleveland, is rated by Brown as an outstanding man at that position.

"They're just not doing a thing to him," Brown observed.

Hal Dean of Wooster is playing an improved game at one guard and at the other, Lynn Houston of Massillon is regarded by the coaches as a much better player than a year ago.

Two sophomores won starting line spots and one, Tackle William Willis of Columbus, has been in the thick of play all season. The other rookie, End Dante Lavelli of Hudson, has been plagued by injuries.

Big Bob Shaw of Fremont continues to play a stellar end game and is one of the Western conference's outstanding pass receivers. At the other end in Lavelli's place next Saturday will be William Sedor of Shadyside.

Fullback Gene Fekete of Findlay and halfback Paul Sarringhaus of Hamilton have handled the bulk of the ball-carrying chores, with halfback Leslie Horvath of Cleveland and Captain-quarterback George Lynn of Niles making up the remainder of the first string backfield.

Fekete, a sophomore, is the mid-west's leading scorer.

Sarringhaus saw little service last year because of his inability to block and a weakness in pass defense, but Brown says:

"He's getting so he can really block—and hit hard now."

The best pass defender is Tommy James and the Bullseye cracking passer is George Sussner, both Massillon lightweights. James weighs 135, Sussner 170.

"TEACH BOYS ART OF PLACEKICKING"

Charley Brickley Never Missed For Harvard In Old Days

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS — The chunky fellow with the scars on his bald head was emphatic.

"They should abolish the point after touchdown if the coaches are not going to teach the boys how to kick them."

"And the coaches don't teach the boys how to kick them because most of them just don't know or don't care," he says.

"What's the use? We can get touchdowns?"

Not just a rabid football fan who had lost ten bucks on a game because his team didn't add the vital point.

But a man qualified to speak on the subject because his name happened to be Brickley—Charlie Brickley—and back in football's yesterdays, he didn't miss.

Present day fans look on Charlie Brickley as something of a myth—if they ever heard of him. But the record books bulge with stories of his kicking prowess when he played for Harvard before the twenties. That's when he got those scars on his head.

He never played a losing team and he kicked 35 field goals in 37 tries in four years with the Crimson.

"I've checked the records for years and watched the amazingly large number of misses after touchdowns," says Brickley. If the coaches have time to develop fellows who can pass for touchdowns like Sammy Baugh—the greatest passer I ever saw—surely they have time to practice their boys at kicking goals. What's the use of scoring five touchdowns if missing a point after one loses the game?

Man, 80, Saves $600 For War Bonds; Thief Gets It

COLUMBUS, Oct. 21 — Eighty-year-old Phillip J. Kuhns stuck to his trade of bricklaying this summer until he had saved $600 to buy war bonds.

Arriving at a downtown "Victory Corner," Kuhns found the office crowded with bond purchasers and he boarded a bus for home, intending to return the following day. At home, he discovered his wallet containing the $600 was gone.

"I guess I'll just go back to work," he observed simply today.

Pastor Bows To Bivins In Upset

Bob Pastor's long-cherished hopes of wearing the heavyweight title crown are shattered by Jimmy Bivins, colored heavyweight of Cleveland, as he takes a 10-round decision over the New Yorker in the Cleveland arena. Bivins is seen above ducking one of Pastor's Sunday punches in the ninth round.

The Eagles and Albrights remained in a tie for first place in the National league following matches rolled last night on the Masonic alleys.

The Eagles captured only two from the Electric Furnace and Albrights two from Salem China.

The Ohio Restaurant pulled into third place by winning all three from the Sanitary while The News was taking two from Demings. Wink Miller of The News had high game of 225.

GRAHAM COMPLETES 20 TOSSES AGAINST WOLVERINE ELEVEN

Northwestern Ace "Just Throws"; Only Four Intercepted

(By Associated Press)

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 21. — Northwestern's Otto Graham currently holds the honors for the year's best single-game passing performance but the dark-browed junior halfback only laughs when terms like "slingshot" and "rubber arm" are used to describe his ability.

"I just throw," he said today. "Some days I feel hot and other days I can't hit a thing. Against Michigan I just felt good."

In the Michigan game last Saturday (which the Wolverines won, 34-16) Graham completed 20 of 29 passes and gained 295 yards. He won wide fame last year for a season's mark of 36 completions in 75 tries—but in four 1942 games he has hit the target 37 out of 73.

"Michigan left their flats wide open," Graham offered as an explanation of his feat Saturday. "I could have completed passes out there all day. They were just going good and the boys were doing a nice job of catching them."

Only Four Intercepted

Graham's "hot day" against the Wolverines ran his passing total for the season to 482 yards. Only four of his throws have been intercepted.

"When I throw the long ones I try to put them long enough that the defensive man won't grab it," he said. "Sometimes they're too long, though."

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern's coach, thinks Graham is the best passer he's had since he took over the Wildcats.

Unlike many passers who team up with one certain receiver, Graham shoots his lobs to many mates. Nine different men were on the receiving end Saturday.

"They're all got speed," Graham said, "so I throw about the same to one as I do to another."

Northwestern's game Saturday with Ohio State will pit Graham, the Big Ten's passing leader, against the power-running sophomore fullback of the Buckeye team, Gene Fekete. Fekete is the leading conference ball carrier with 430 yards in 86 running attempts.

BECKER MAY FILL CUB INFIELD GAP

CHICAGO—The Chicago Cubs, muddled first base situation, which they tried futilely to plug by buying Jimmy Foxx from the Boston Red Sox in June, might be cleared up completely next year by German-born, South American-raised Heinz Becker, who comes to the Cubs by way of Milwaukee.

Bill Veck, Jr., 28-year-old president of the Milwaukee Brewers, sold Becker to the Cubs at the close of the American Association season, and he is the loudest to sing the praises of the speedy first sacker.

Becker and Eddie Stanky, Brewer shortstop, were the league's top hitters in 1942. Stanky's hitting 342, and Heinz 340. Both were sold to the Cubs but Stanky's draft board at once beckoned him to the army. Becker, married and the father of two children, is a good bet to stay around awhile.

"Heinz is 25 years old," Veck pointed out, "but he's been in baseball only five years."

OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

FARM YOUTH REAP BULK OF TRAPPING REVENUES

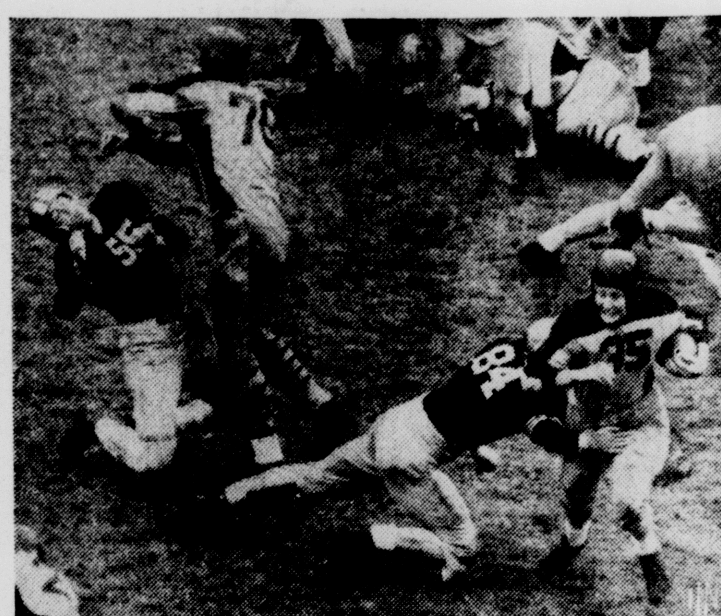

According to surveys made by the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources, farm youth traps the greater portion of Ohio's fur crop, and reap the bulk of the revenues. Trapping in many cases provides the necessary funds for complete college educations for farm boys, who otherwise would not be able to go to college at all.

Conservation Commissioner Don Waters states that the Ohio fur industry is definitely in the "big business" class since it has a turnover value of more than two million dollars a year in the raw product. Surveys made over the past five years show that the Ohio fur crop is steadily increasing following a serious "set back" during the severe winter of 1935-36.

The muskrat, raccoon, mink and skunk, in that order, are the chief revenue producers; these four species accounted for 94% of the cash value of the 1941 catch.

Army Stops Columbia 34-6

After left tackle Hasselman (70) of Columbia knocked Army's Stahl (55) out of the way to clear a path for ball carrier Germann (35) of Columbia, Germann was brought down by Hennessey (84) of Army. However, this was good for a first down for the Lions. The West Pointers won the game at Baker Field, N. Y., by a score of 34 to 6.

BIVINS GETS NOD OVER BOB PASTOR

Cleveland Negro Fights As Heavy; Pastor Is Surprised

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21. — With decisions over highly regarded Bob Pastor and Tami Mauriello in his last two scraps, Jimmy Bivins deserves a spot well up in the heavy weight ranks today.

The punching Cleveland Negro, who normally fights as a light heavy, tackled on a couple of extra pounds last night and grabbed a split decision from a surprised and indignant Pastor who landed far more blows, although they weren't quite so sharp. The 10.576 faithful who entrusted $35,908 to Matchmaker Larry Atkins' care at the Cleveland arena seemed evenly divided on the verdict.

Reeling Bob was provoked at the ruling, declaring "I won my last 14 fights and I didn't lose this one." Although Pastor twice slipped to one knee for no count, there were no knock-downs as in their first encounter six months ago when Robert won after hitting the floor in the first two rounds.

As a result, a third match appears inevitable between the 21-year-old Bivins, who at 177½ spotted the New Yorker seven pounds, and Pastor, now 28 and talking of enlisting in the marines early next year.

Bivins and the winner of the Lee Savold-Mauriello bout in New York Oct. 30 may fill a Nov. 27 date in Madison Square Garden.

RATIONING HURTS HUNTING SEASON

JACKSON, Oct. 21.—Members of the State Conservation and Natural Resources commission gathered here today for their October meeting to consider requests for advancing the Nov. 20 opening date of the hunting season because of prospective gasoline rationing.

Conservation commissioner Don G. Waters said about 10 communications requesting the advance had been received but expressed doubt that the recommendations would be followed.

Observing that only a short interval remained before hunters would be afield after rabbits, ring-necked pheasants, Hungarian partridges and other game, Waters said:

"Hunters should recall also, that the season this year was postponed from Nov. 15 to Nov. 20 for fundamentally patriotic reasons."

The later opening was scheduled, Waters explained, so hunters would not hamper soybean harvests in northwestern Ohio and because colder weather was expected to reduce the danger of nimrods contracting tularemia, or rabbit fever.

The season on pheasant, partridge and ruffed grouse ends Dec. 5 and on rabbits Jan. 5. Gasoline rationing is scheduled to begin Nov. 22.

IMPOTENT BIG RED TEAM FACES SALEM GRIDDEERS FRIDAY

Overturf Sends Quakers Through Long Drill, Tries New Men

Sending his charges through a vicious scrimmage last night at Riley stadium, the Salem Quakers' boss, Ray Overturf, had nothing to say about his starting lineup for Struthers Friday except that "there'll be a lot of changes made."

Overturf worked with several combinations at last night's drill but showed no special satisfaction at the work of any one of them as they moved up and down the field in a practice game. In order to avoid another debacle like last week's against Wellsville, the Salem men have begun a search for a new field general and has switched one or more players to another position.

The Quakers, who showed fight and drive in their first two contests, have bogged down tremendously in the last month and are still seeking for their third win of the season. They have dropped three decisions.

Friday's opponent, the Big Red of Struthers, have had an even tougher time than the locals since they have not notched a victory since their opener against Hubbard which they won, 12-0. Since then they have suffered successive defeats to Girard, Niles, Steubenville and Rayen of Youngstown.

Coeach Johnny Barrett's squad has been kept at a mark below full strength for several weeks as injuries keep cropping up. When the year began it looked like a good season for the Big Red but it has become evident that the Struthers eleven is just another team playing out of its class.

However, bad they may be up to the Quaker game, the Down River team is always "hepped up" for Salem. I. has been said that Struthers griddeers would rather beat the Quakers than eat. They were smothered here last year by a 25-7 count when Overturf's machine performed perfectly and will be out for revenge when they appear here this week.

Kickoff time is at 7:45 p. m. The junior varsity squad went through a heavy drill in preparation for a pair of battles against Canfield next week. They defeated Leetonia Monday by a score of 12-0.

Tax Payment Ordered

COLUMBUS, Oct. 21—The Ohio Supreme Court today upheld the state tax commissioner in ruling that beneficiaries under a $50,000 trust created by the late William W. Harker of East Liverpool must pay the intangible tax on their shares of income from the trust.
David B. Harker, a beneficiary, had contested the assessment on the ground he had no property right in the trust.

FRANCE REACHES CRITICAL POINT

Laval Asks Fulfillment Of German's Labor
Demands

BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 21—France entered today her most critical period since she signed the 1940 armistice, the 11 days remaining to Pierre Laval before he is expected to try compulsion to send protesting workers into German war factories.

The period to Nov. 1, private advices from unoccupied France said, represents the extension of time set by Berlin for fulfillment of its labor demands for 150,000 volunteer workers.

It also is the period, informed French observers said they believed, which will demonstrate whether Laval could hope to cling to his position as chief of government.
In Laval's radio speech last night, in which he renewed his appeal for Frenchmen to go to work for the Germans, he announced an agreement for a levy upon each factory "which will be obliged to furnish a certain number of workmen."

Ohioans Will Be Lucky To Have Christmas Trees

COLUMBUS, Oct. 21—Ohioans may be dreaming of a white Christmas this year but they'll be lucky to have a green tree at the hearth-side to trim.

Retailers here conceded that the chances of supplying the annual Yuletide demand for evergreen trees was slim. One forest products industry official estimated that wartime transportation facilities could handle only about half the normal shipments.
Retailers said that although Ohio trees were not so good as the imported varieties, they probably would be forced to stock them because of a scarcity of out-of-state evergreens.

DEATHS

THEODORE MUNTEAN

LISBON, Oct. 21—Theodore Muntean, 61, of the Wellsville road, died at the Salem City hospital at 11:20 p. m. Tuesday of a throat infection.
Muntean was born in Rumania,
Aug. 2, 1881, the son of Theodore and Maria Muntean. He came to this country in 1906 as a pottery worker and had worked here since that time.

He is survived by his wife, Anna;
three sons, Aurel Muntean of Lisbon, Corp. George Muntean of Ft.

U. S. Service Bill Drafted By McNutt

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Paul V.
McNutt declared today the manpower problem was becoming too complex for effective voluntary action and announced that within two weeks he would present a national service bill to President Roosevelt.

"There are acute shortages of all types of male labor in 40 major centers of war production," the chairman of the War Manpower commission testified to the senate military committee.

"Turnover in west coast war plants has reached fantastic heights," McNutt said. "Labor piracy is rife in Buffalo and Detroit.
Squeezing the last employable person in the area into employment is a crucial problem in Connecticut."

McNutt said the President instructed him several weeks ago to draw up a national service bill, now being drafted by the War Manpower commission's management-labor policy subcommittee.

Expenditure Bill Returns To House; Senate Passes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—A bill authorizing the expenditure of $15-$41,196,997 for war purposes, $15-$99,000,000 of it by the navy, was returned to the house today for action on Senate amendments.

This supplemental appropriation bill came back with $104,240,266 added by the Senate to the amount passed by the house on Oct. 8, including $100,000,000 for war housing and $1,000,000 for a farm labor survey by the War Manpower commission.

500TH SUBMARINE VICTIM REPORTED

(By Associated Press)
The battle of the Atlantic claimed its 500th announced submarine victim as the Navy announced today the loss of a medium-sized United States merchantman in the North Atlantic.

The Associated Press tabulation showed that in the 500 announced sinkings of United and neutral nations' merchant ships since Pearl Harbor, 3,400 lives have been lost and more than 1,954 crew members and passengers are missing, most of whom may now be considered dead.

Cleveland Police Back Pounding Beats On Foot

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21—Cleveland police are going back to patrolling their "beats" on foot—to save tires.
Safety Director Frank D. Celebrezze has revised the zone patrol system to eliminate constant cruising of police zone cars, which usually carry two men.

From now on, these cars will park at the curb in the business district of the patrolmen's beats.
One man will remain in the car to handle radio messages, while the other will patrol the immediate neighborhood under his own power.

the couple.
Mrs. Elva Ford served as matron-of-honor to her sister and Ralph Ford, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. A supper was served to the wedding party at the residence of Perry Ford, 236 Penn. st.

Enemy Gets City's Goat. Plus Horns Soon To Come

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Oct. 21—
The enemy is about to get this city's goat.

The goat, a 250-pound metal model of the real thing, was uncovered by members of the American Legion scouring the city for scrap. The Legion post, first organization to open the scrap campaign here, now has over 40,000 pounds piled in a woodyard.

Warning To Truckers

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21—Ohio truckers were warned today they would be unable to obtain gasoline after Nov. 15 if they fail to get certificates of war necessity.

R. D. Thomas, regional manager of the division of motor transport, office of defense transportation, said the ODT office in Detroit is mailing application forms at the rate of 250,000 a day but only 6,000 to 8,000 were being received for certification each day, indicating a jam as the deadline approaches.

BIG TAX MEASURE AWAITS F.D.R. PEN

No Further Tax Legislation Looms Until After
First Of Year

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Congressional leaders turned an unofficial but emphatic thumbs down today on any further major tax legislation until after the first of the year.

With the biggest of all revenue bills on President Roosevelt's desk for his signature today, after its final approval by both houses yesterday, the chairman of the two tax-framing committees let it be known that they and their aides felt they had done enough for a while.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee told reporters that while Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau might carry out his announced intention of requesting $6,000,000,000 more in direct revenue, he, George, thought nothing concrete would be done about it by Congress until after Jan. 1.

Tax Load at Peak

Moreover, George made it plain that he believed the tax load contained in the new bill already approached the maximum.

"Of course," he said, "we are going to have to go into the question of compulsory savings to help in financing the war. It may be that Mr. Morgenthau will bring back from London some ideas of what the British have accomplished in obtaining such forced loans and they may be useful to us."

Morgenthau has been in London on an undisclosed mission and his absence was regarded as likely to delay any new recommendations.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he would sign the new measure before midnight tonight.

As the tax measure stands, it contained these major provisions:

A 5 per cent victory tax on individual income over $12 a week, with postwar credits. This was combined with stiff increases in the normal and surtax rates on net income and a broadening of the base of the income tax by a cut in exemptions.

A 9 percentage point increase in corporation taxes on normal and surtax income and an elevation of the sliding scale of excess profits to a flat 90 per cent rate.

Increases in excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes, cigars and other items, which would become effective Nov. 1.
